For NORTH CAROLINA RECORDING OFFICES

H&M LOOSE LEAF RECORDS—Durability, maximum protection of records, easy operation of loose leaf device and fine appearance—all combine to make H&M Loose Leaf Record Books the most popular books in North Carolina recording offices. Available in all standard binding styles and in capacities from 400 to 700 pages. Obvious strength in the indestructible bakelite back—resilience in the cork hubs. You can depend upon the work of those who have specialized for over a half century in building permanent public records.

H&M LOOSE LEAF INDEXES—The H&M Loose Leaf Permaflex is a simplified public record index. It makes indexing and reference faster, easier, more accurate and more flexible for individual requirements. A former North Carolina recording officer assisted in designing this index system. It is sure to meet your requirements for saving index time, expense, and labor. Furnished for all sizes of offices and classes of records—for current indexing and re-indexing. Page patterns printed specially to conform to requirements and show information desired. Installations may start with one to six volumes and expand up to 10, 27, or more.

These North Carolina counties already have Permaflex index systems installed and in use: Alexander, Beaufort, Catawba, Durham, Guilford, Harnett, Hoke, Lenoir, Lincoln, Montgomery, Rockingham, Stanly, Union, Vance, Warren. Hundreds more in use throughout the South.

Ask your H. & M. dealer for demonstration, further information, literature and quotations. Or write to Hall & McChesney's southern representative: Col. Joseph B. Thorp, Box 202, Greensboro, North Carolina.

FOREWORD

This is the ninth biennial edition of the Directory of State and County Officials of North Carolina compiled by the present Legislative Reference Librarian. It was first issued in 1919, in response to a widespread demand for a concise publication containing the names and addresses of all State and county officials, heads of State administrative departments, boards and commissions, and names of State institutions and their heads. The daily demand for this information has well justified its continued publication.

THE INSTITUTE

As Others See It—

Gov. Ehringhaus

"On every hand I hear commendation of the Institute of Government and its magazine. I am sure our people are becoming increasingly conscious and appreciative of its fine service."

Pres. Roosevelt

"The Institute of Government has and will render fine service to its State and Nation. I hope that states having no comparable agency will recognize and follow North Carolina's leadership."

Atty.-Gen. Seawell

"The Institute of Government has received wide recognition and approval. Popular Government is a snappy readable magazine and its information invaluable to those who deal with public affairs."

Mrs. J. F. Spruill

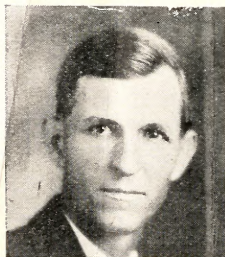

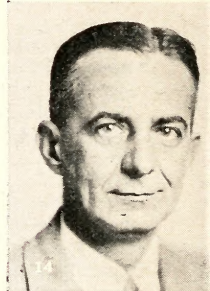

P.-T.A. Official

"We heartily endorse the opportunity offered the schools by the Institute of Government. We urge every P.-T.A. to contact its school executives at once and cooperate to the fullest in this effort for better citizenship training."

A. S. Brower

Head, Division of Purchase and Contract

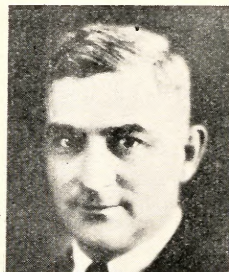

"As a medium for the exchange of experience and thought, the Institute of Government offers a worthwhile and far-reaching service that deserves support."

John L. Skinner

Secretary, County Comrs. Assn.

"The Institute of Government's dissemination of information has been of incalculable benefit to the local government units of the State."

Chas. M. Johnson

State Treasurer

"Your Bulletin Service is a distinct service to city and county officials and a source of great convenience to State officials and departments."

Andrew Joyner, Jr.

President, N. C. League of Municipalities

"I want to express appreciation and commendation on your Bulletin Service. It is most interesting and informative and an eminent worthwhile service."

POPULAR GOVERNMENT

PURPOSE: To aid the officials in their efforts to effect improvements and economies in our government.

NATURE: Non-partisan and non-profit.

SLOGAN: To inform rather than to reform.

Your Part

If the government of a particular unit is not efficient nor economical, it is because the people have not taken the proper interest in it.

The reason for this is frequently that the average man does not have the time nor the means with which to make an intelligent study of his government, compare it with others, and discover where improvements are possible.

The Institute, and its magazine, “Popular Government,” are here to make this easy for the busy man.

Your part is simply this: Inform yourself so you can take an intelligent part in your government. Join yourself and urge others to do the same.
